Coker Elected President of Lone Star Community of Society for Technical Communication

Dallas, TX—May 2005: Louellen S. Coker, Publications Architect and Owner of Content Solutions, was elected as president of the Lone Star Community of the Society of Technical Communication in May 2005.

The Lone Star Community (LSC), one of the largest and most active STC communities in the U.S., received an Award of Merit from the national office for its activities in 2004-2005. Drawing over 400 members from all over the Dallas-Fort Worth, the LSC promotes professional growth through meetings, workshops, seminars, conferences, mentoring, and networking.

“I am honored to lead North Texas’ group of dedicated Technical Communication professionals,” stated Coker. “As the community approaches its 50th anniversary, I follow a long line of innovative leaders. I look forward to working with this year’s council members as we develop and implement an outstanding program year for our membership.”

The Lone Star Community holds monthly meeting from September through May on the second Thursday of the month.
